ABOUT THE FESTIVAL

The International Festival "European Polyphony" is a French-Greek cooperation created in 2019.

During 15 days, the Festival presents an ambitious program crossing classical music, photography, cinema and musical evening parade, and transforms the Medieval City of Rhodes into a big interactive music workshop combining arts, culture, and creativity. The Festival European Polyphony highlights the city of Rhodes as a meeting place for cultures, audiences and disciplines and aims to be a place of creation, connection and proximity between artists and audiences, by proposing an innovative way to experience art and music.

Many artists (composers, musicians, performers, sculptors, actors...) chosen for their creative talents, have joined the project to offer the public new emotions and a different view of live performance.

One of the main goals of the Festival is to empower young people through art and music, which values pedagogy and mediation.

Several actions aim also to promote social and cultural diversity by making music accessible to different audiences, whether they are children, students, associations, amateur artists, or simply curious.

We want to contribute to the promotion of the island of Rhodes as one of the important artistic capitals in Europe.

Artistic direction:
Chrysanthos Antoniou (Fr) and Savvas Karantzias (Gr)
